Group Exhibition “Street Children”

EXHIBITION JUNE 1- AUGUST 1, 2011

This group exhibition features extremely vulnerable children and youth from the Zambian area of Africa who have been deprived of family care and protection. These children live on the streets of an impoverished nation but have been given a refuge in the Lubuto Library Project, where they are finding self-confidence, positive reinforcement, opportunity and a new-found hope to improve their lives, through art.

We will feature approximately fifty unstretched canvases, offering a glimpse of their world as well as some of their hopes and dreams.

Stella Jones Gallery will make these works available at very reasonable prices, with ALL proceeds going to the Lubuto Library Project so that they might continue to transform the lives of abused, neglected and/or exploited African children.

GALLERY HOURS: M-F 12-6, Sat 12-5, or by appointment. Call Stella Jones Gallery at (504)669-7071 or (504)568-9050.
